

Shipping Costs

All of the items listed on the site are deliverable through UPS or FedEx, even the grandfather clocks and large wall clocks. The large things will be shipped in a purpose built wooden crate that will ward off all but the roughest treatment. Since shipping costs are a function of both the weight and size of any given package, and all of those vary, I cannot tell you what those charges will be until the package is actually on the shipping counter and consigned at UPS. Therefore, I will make the appropriate charges for the items themselves before going to UPS and then follow up with a separate charge on your card to cover the freight after I have paid for it and know what it is.

Truck Shipping:

If you are placing a large order or specify an overly large mirror that would warrant using a trucking company I have an excellent broker who will give you really good service and charge significantly less than what you might expect. If we need to use their services I will give you all of the contact details to set up an account with them when it is required.
